

World War I veterans from the Mount Wolf-Manchester area. Those wearing "campaign hats" never left the United States; those wearing "go-to-Hell" caps are overseas veterans of the war. First row, left to right, Cleveland Dietz, Elmer Good, Ervin Brenner, Paul Jacobs, Jesse Gladfelter, Clarence Weigle, Maurice Hartman, and Earl McCleary. Second row, Mearle Fink, Leon Altland, Clark Gladfelter, Ed Cockley, William Dietz, John Hoffman, Arthur Schriver, and Jerry Gross. Third row, Adam Arndt, Cecil Beshore, Emory Heilman, Jacob Decker, William Rohrbaugh, Ervin Myers, William May, and George W. Everhart. Fourth row, Harry Krout, Earl Lehman, William Quickel, George Mohr, Lt. Wilbert Everhart, Henry Kohr, Curvin P. Good, George Dietz, Lloyd Sipe, Charles Shearer, and Fred Bupp. Fifth row, Oscar Gladfelter, Chester Frysinger, Charles H. Good, Henry Hoff, Robert Holler, Roy Fink, Harry Sipe, Ralph Everhart, Melvin Williams, Sweillar March, Crist A. Musser, and Jacob Malehorn.